

I am in favor of wireless-to-wireless portability AND wire-to-wireless portability. The lack of portability keeps me from switching to a wireless phone and gives an unfair advantage to whoever one signs up with first. If they lure you in with a good offer and then change their rates or fees, then you are stuck unless you try to track down everyone that you have given your phone number to.